

Some lift companies install closed-protocol systems, effectively locking out other service companies from working on their equipment

Specialist tools can be required on certain jobs, in some cases these can't be obtained, this can result in very costly charges should you wish to change service provider in the future

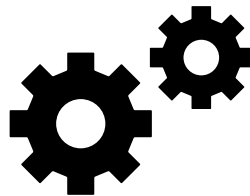

Ideal Lifts Service operate an open-protocol policy, meaning all of the equipment we fit can be worked on by any competent lift engineer

At Ideal Lifts Service we do things differently...
